Altitude of Russia in Matter Has Created Decided Sensation in Washington.

He Will Draft His Views Concerning The Question—Denounces Over-Capitalization.

Situation is Admitted to Be Critical. Madero Will Have to Fight For Position.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—The protest by Russia against the ratification of the treaty of 1822 with that country in the form of the proposed resolution by Sulzer, overwhelmingly adopted in the House, was followed tonight by the declaration of the Senate leaders that in modified terms the resolution declaring the treaty was at an end, would be put through the Senate before adjournment Monday.

Some of the senators went so far as to say that the Sulzer resolution, said to be unobjectionable to the St. Petersburg government, would be adopted without amendment, but the consensus of opinion was that the Senate would strip the resolution of everything except the declaration of abrogation.

All seemed agreed, however, that the Senate would act Monday, regardless of any protests, and regardless of any negotiations in progress between Washington and the Russian capital.

It was reported tonight that if the Senate adopts the resolution, which baldly declares that Russia violates the treaty pledges that the Russian ambassador, Geo. Bakemoff, would ask for passports and quit the country.

At best, it is said the ambassador would quit Washington "unofficially," leaving an under official in charge. It became known today that the ambassador has expressed both to President Taft and Secretary Knox, that the language of the Sulzer resolution is objectionable.

The news of the Russian stand has created a decided sensation. In official quarters the effort was made to minimize the importance of Russia's protest.

Chapin was acquitted Thursday at Victoria, where he was tried, charged with murder, growing out of the killing of Oscar J. Boutree here, last August, a year ago.

REV. BREWER RELEASED.

(By The Associated Press.)
OLSTEEN, Okla., Dec. 16.—Rev. Charles M. Brewer, who was arrested after Private Michael Quirk, it is said, implicated him in a series of explosions at Fort Riley, Kansas, was released on his own recognizance today, when the deputy United States marshal failed to find the deputy sheriff at Altus, Okla., and take charge of the minister. Rev. Brewer has denied his complicity.

An effort was made to trace the fund to fees given Orrie McManigal for the work of blowing up the structures erected by non-union workmen.

EFFORTS TO SELL MAINE DEFEATED IN HOUSE

Debate Over the Matter Becomes Very Warm at Times.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16.—Efforts to authorize the sale of the hull of the battleship Maine to private parties, who desire to exhibit it in various parts of the United States and charge admission for visitors, was defeated in the House today, and the urgent deficiency bill, carrying an appropriation of $250,000 to complete the world's raising the Maine, passed in the House tonight after a hard fight without change.

It was admitted in the debate that exhibition interests had made offers approaching a million dollars for the rear portion of the hull which can be filled up with the bulkhead and towed from Havana to the United States.

Representative Sisson of Mississipi was author of an amendment authorizing the war department to invite bids for the rear portion of the hull.

Sisson and Mann Clash.

(By The Associated Press.)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 16.—Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican leader, and Representative Sisson, Democrat, of Mississippi, clashed in the House today as the result of Sisson's efforts to require the adoption of an amendment to the urgent deficiency bill permitting the sale of the hull of the battleship Maine to private concerns.

"I am surprised that the gentleman has not included in it the selling of the bones of the men who died in the Maine," said Mann. "Both would bring large money."

Mann, railing, said: "I never have declined to resent an insult when it was offered, but the rules of the House will not, perhaps, permit me to do so, and to say the things necessary to be said."

The House by this time was in an uproar, but was soon quieted and the debate proceeded in order.

Thousands of dollars are hanging suspended by a slender thread and Father Time is swiftly approaching with his sharpened scythe to clip the golden thread and permit Santa Claus to grasp and convey the handsome Yuletide Gifts to the six champion vote-gatherers who have by dint of strenuous effort climbed to the pinnacle of success and glorious victory.

It's time to think and think seriously of the wonderful opportunities that now present themselves for only a few fleeting hours to the ladies and children of this section of the Lone Star State.

Just think, only 6 days, or 144 hours, or 8640 minutes, or 518,400 seconds remain in which to achieve one of the greatest successes of life-time—or to lose a premium of immense value, and the coveted laurels that accompany victory.

No faithful contestant should be content with turning in less money on subscriptions than the actual cost of the beautiful premiums yet this may come to pass in the race for the Capital Premium in the ladies race. But who knows, this achievement is not all impossible?

Winners Announced.

Following are the names of the winners of the special premiums and voting coupons offered to the contestants who turned in the greatest amount of money on new subscriptions to the Daily and Weekly Caller-Herald week-before-last:

Mrs. W. J. Nelson of this city won the beautiful silver toilet set, value $125.00 offered by "The Dorcas Gilda"; and the extra coupon for $100 votes offered by the Caller-Herald.

Miss Florence McKeehan of Dallas, won the pretty silver toilet set, value $125.00, offered by the Caller-Herald.
